

WELCOME SPECTRA'S NEW PRESIDENT & CEO

We are excited to introduce Chad Nickel as our new President & CEO. Learn more about Chad's background and vision:

Chad Nickel attended the United States Air Force Academy and spent five years in the Air Force as a bioenvironmental engineer. He went on to receive an MBA from Saint Mary's University and transitioned to life sciences when he joined the corporate biopharmaceutical industry, most recently as President of the Global Plasma and Blood Center at Haemonetics Corporation in Boston.

As Spectra continues to grow and add capital, Chad is working to bring more manufacturing capacity and automation to our capabilities. He is dedicated to expanding our customer service group and further streamlining our supply chain and stock to reduce the possibility of bottlenecks.

He is excited to join Spectra Medical Devices and work closely with our products and our valued customers during this period of growth and transition.

SPECTRA'S STERILE NEEDLES

Unlike competitor brands, Spectra sterile needles can be customized to fit customer specifications with fast, easy customization of private labels. Our new dedicated packaging facility with fully validated packaging processes is available for our current contract packaged sterile needles, and for customers looking for contracted packaging solutions to market their products as quickly and easily as possible; with an array of packaging options to meet the customer's needs; private labels of products, and EtO sterilization.

With our new facility's enhanced in-house packaging and labeling operations, you will now be able to order a full range of individually packaged sterile needles, in both standard and custom configurations, with faster delivery times. Custom configurations require longer lead times due to the regulatory clearance, production and custom labeling processes. We look forward to helping you meet all your sterile needle requirements quickly and reliably.

To place an order, please email sales@spectramedical.com or give us a call at 978-657-0889.

UPCOMING NEWS

Spectra is looking forward to the launch of our redesigned website coming to you soon. Our team has been working hard for the last few months on developing the best possible user experience with better streamlined navigation.

Also coming soon is our White Paper focusing on the advantages of Spectra's RF needles.
